mas is over for another year. Did you get the games you wanted? I finally got a finished version of Electronic Art's Powermonger and it's brilliant! Congratulations to programmers Bullfrog.

Well, I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen it. Ocean have finally released Total Recall for review, and it should have hit the shelves by the time you read this, just in time for the video showing. Because of ACE's tight pre-Xmas deadline it just missed getting into this issue - we had hoped to do a big Robocop-Recall special - but it will definitely be getting the full ACE treatment next time.

However, I can give you my early opinions on it, though I should point out that I've only played through the first two levels so this should not be thought of as being a definitive review!

My first impressions were mixed. The music by David Whittaker - computer music maestro who recently wrote the tunes for Shadow of the Beast 2 - is excellent and suits the nature of the game and film perfectly. Unfortunately the pregame intro sequence is very disappointing due to the fact that Ocean are not allowed to copy Arnie's likeness, unless it comes directly from the film (i.e. the poster or stills) Therefore the bloke in the intro and the game doesn't look anything like the man himself. A pity.

The first level takes place just after Quaid's disastrous visit to Rekall. The baddy Cohaagen's men chase Quaid as he searches for pieces of helpful equipment on a multi-directional scrolling network of platforms and lifts. Luckily there's a gun to help Quaid defend himself. This level's incredibly tough, due to the hordes of baddies and the slow firing rate of the gun.

Survive this and you can try to escape in Johnny Cab. You look down on a road, and control the cab on a road scrolling from left to right, jam packed with other cabs and nasty black cars that fire at you. I wasn't immediately taken with this level - it looks very primitive and is highly reminiscent of the Batcar levels in the 8-bit version of Ocean's Batman. However it does grow on you and it's quite addictive.

Overall I'm a little disappointed by Recall. For a start, Ocean seem to have jumbled up the plot in the first level you're looking for the suitcase, which surely Quaid didn't find until after the Cab chase? The game itself seems very derivative of other Ocean tie-ins and it's very tough in places. That said, there's a fairly strong urge to come back and play again. Give it a good try in the shop before you buy or wait for the full review next month

IT'S TIPPIN' 'TASTIC!!

Oooh, baby, she's got it! And so have we. I'm talking about the passcodes to the higher levels in Gremlin's attractive and original shoot-'em-up Venus - The Fly Trap. So here they are:

Level 2: MANTIDS

Level 3: CICADAS

Level 4: PSYLLIDS

Level 5: PIERIDS

Level 6: SATYRID Level 7: LYCAENID

Level 8: PYRALID

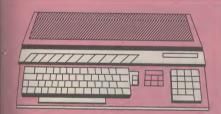

My word, just the sort of passcodes you'd have a jolly good chance of guessing, aren't they? Thanks to Sigi Goode of Deakin in Australia for Yes, yet another letter from down-under! I think I get more letters from the antipodeans than the natives! Anyway, Sigi (?) also tells me that you can jump to the last level of Domark/Tengen's Klax by holding down the spacebar and the '4' key at the same time. As Sigi say, it makes the game pretty boring but there you go!

And a final "Hello" to Mark 'Madmark' Spiteei from Malta. He's one of the hordes who sent in a full solution to Psygnosis' Shadow of the Beast 2. Sorry, no prizes for first place 'cos Russell Lazzari and Philip Baxter got there before you all (see T'n'T). But at least you got a name mention, eh 'Madmark'? So go say yah-boo-sucks to all your mates!

or this month's review of new Atari ST software we're concentrating on MIDIbased music products; there have been so many in the last couple of months that an update is sorely needed!For pros, Steinberg's Cubase V2.0 sequencer is now available: the main update is the long-awaited addition of scoreprint-

Other new features include IPS -Interactive Phrase Synthesis. This allows a musical phrase to be "filtered" through a series of processors using programmable harmonic and rhythmic ules altering the note length, position density, otch, velocity and transposition, modified cyclially by "Low Frequency Oscillators", each with their own frequency and amplitude, then edited urther. Cubase V2.0 costs £500-odd, but there's now a cut-down file-compatible version for the 1 meg ST, Cubeat.

It's still pricey at £285, but has most of the eatures of Cubase, including 16x64 tracks, ISP (Visual Song Processing), MROS multi-tasking, human sync, key and grid editing, multiple MIDI channel recording, chord recognition and so on; it doesn't have scorewriting or some of the more advanced MIDI management functions. Hollis Research's Trackman is also up to V2.0, and you can now get a demo disk of this wellregarded sequencer, complete except for saving facilities (and it crashes after 20 minutes); also included on the disk is a fully-working patch librarian for the Roland D50, and over 500 patches for Yamaha 6-operator synths such as the DX7

Take Control's excellent Atari ST scorewriter Music Publisher now has full MIDI implementation including note data input, playback of scores, and the ability to import MIDI disk files. The program now also allows import of graphics files in bit image and metafile formats, making the display options more flexible - scores can also be enlarged and reduced.MCMXCIX has announced the most professional music DTP package yet for the ST - Passport Encore. It's based on ideas developed in the Master Tracks Pro sequencer, and can intelligently transcribe and print out scores from Master Tracks Pro. Trax, and M.T. Jr. sequences, and MIDI standard

Encore requires a mono monitor and 1 meg memory, and can handle up to 64 musical "parts" at a time, using up to four voices per staff. Cost is £429. For budgeting musicians, there's Trax, an entry-level ST sequencer at £85. It looks very similar to MasterTracks Pro; it's filecompatible and has the same 64-track Track Sheet with functions such as MIDI channelization, program numbering, naming, mute, solo and loop; the graphic Song Editor, with cut/copy/paste functions; Step Editor, with clickand-drag event editing; the Tempo Conductor; MIDI data filter; 240 PPQN resolution and tapetransport style recording controls.

The most enjoyable music software program around is PG Music's Band-in-a-Box, distributed in the UK by Zone. BIAB does for computer/synthesizer systems what the "easy-play" options do for home keyboards; it provides a bass, chord and drum accompaniment for you to play a melody over.

You can tailor the program to work with the required synths, then assign MIDI channels for the bass, chord and drum parts. To write a song accompaniment, just type chord letters and symbols into the lead-sheet display grid, and select

All familiar chord types are supported, and you can change the tempo, number of repeats and such like using dialogue boxes. An update available shortly (10 to registered users) includes multiple styles per song, tempo and patch changes, all of which can be saved as part of a disk file; variable time signatures, MIDI THRU option and a lyric facility. A more extensive update available later includes user-definable styles. You can buy Band-in-a-Box for an incredibly low £45, or £69 complete with two "MIDI Fake Books" each featuring 250 files of classic songs, normally £20 each separately, or £35 together. Evenlode Soundworks - 0993 898484 Hollis Research - 0481 711851 MCMXCIX - 081-963 0663 Take Control - 021-706 6085Zone Distribution - 081-766 6564

ell the New Year's most definitely with us now; every software company in the cosmos put their shoulders to the grindstone and their nose to the wheel to get all their big, Christmas games out of the door and onto the software shelves for the Yuletide

And that's just what they did isn't it? Until you realise that several companies put the cart before the horse - promising Christmas blockbusters that never materialised?

Among a list of many games that failed to make the shelves before their shift-by dates ran out are the two of the largest companies in the biz; Ocean's Total Recall on the Speccy, was withdrawn at the last moment - I saw it at an early stage and can say that they've made a good move - it's being almost entirely rewritten for the Spectrum. And then there's ESWAT which US Gold withdrew from the race at the last second when they decided that the product wouldn't be finished in time.

Both companies have been promising the two products for some time but have had problems producing good quality games within their

There's still a contraction going on in the Spectrum market. We all know about the (doomed?) future of the +3. Or do we? Ending production is really no great problem in itself because if Amstrad cease production of the product, the mail order boys will continue to stock them for as long as demand continues. How will they do this? Well, the Japanese may take a leaf out of Alan Sugar's book, and produce the machine themselves. After all, the factory that makes all the components is in Taiwan, with the bits being put together at Amstrad. And, using the same reverse engineering as Amstrad, another company could easily re-start the old production line

COMPILATION COMPLICA-TIONS

There are eager battles being fought between Spectrum titles at the moment as three magazines fight for a market that is only big enough for two. Software houses are having a battle too, with everyone trying to come up with new ideas to sell games. The recent transboard decision to increase full price games by a pound (which in terms of inflation seems almost sensible) shows the dizzy level of imagination shown in this department.

If you want imaginative marketing, then the big boys need look no further than the innovative CODE-MASTERS. We all know that if you wait long enough, every full price game will eventually make it onto a budget label and be unleased into a thriving market that accounts for 70% of all games software sales in

So what's innovative about the Codies? They're the first company to come up with the idea of Budget compilations. Called the Quattro range, each tape has four budget games squeezed onto a single tape and cover a particular style of game, from Arcade to Combat, Adventure to Sports and so on with six different titles out at the moment. There are already 6 other titles to be released starting in the new year. All for the whizzy price of £2.99.

SAM OUTFOXES THE MAR-KET'S BOOT BOYS

Here's an interesting snippet of news for anyone thinking about buying a Sam Coupe. Rumours are afoot that MGT plan to upgrade the Sam in the new year to a full Megabyte of usable memory for only £70.

This would mean that the Sam's new price point with 1 Meg and a diskdrive would put it in competition with the Amiga and Atari - and with 1 Meg, it would mean that the mode 4 graphics (that are of a higher quality than either of its competitors) could be employed easily by games programmers utilising the Sam's better speed to move its 24K screen around smoothly, quickly and above all, far more colourfully than either the standard Atari or Amiga can.

GAMES WITHOUT FRON-TIERS

So, what's happening in the Spectrum software market then? Well this month, sees the release of all the products that missed the Christmas bandwagon - although at the time of writing they still stand a slim chance.

F16 - The latest flight sim to take off on the Spectrum this month comes from Digital Integration. Flying the infamous American fighter in any one of five missions, with new variables being generated for each mission, there's a lot of flying hours here. There's a lot of waiting time too if you get the game on tape..

GAZZA 2 - Just when you though it was safe to cry in public, Paul 'Grizzling' Gascoigne makes his way back onto the Spectrum. Gazza 2 is actually very good. Its speed is excellent and the 3D perspective that made Gazza 1 so awful has been substituted for the very playable overhead view. It's just a pity whilst there's an option for two player games, only one of you can use a joystick. Mind you, using the keyboard could be ideal for away games...

That's your lot for another month. If you've got any news or view on the Speccy scene, drop me a line!

LOMBARD

ast month's tips seem to go with a bang, judging by the bulging sacks we found ourselves with afterwards. (Mail sacks, that is!)

+ ••

TURTLE POWER!

Those heroes in a halfshell seem to be a popular choice for Handheld freaks, eliciting a massive set of tips. JP Roche reckons that Bebop (level 2 guardian) can be defeated thus; "As soon as you land in the room at the end of level 2, jump up as Bebop runs in from the left. He will fure his laser so use your weapon to absorb the beams. Jump up and somersault over him as he runs to the left of the screen. He will turn and fire, so absorb the beams with your weapon and strike him when he approaches. Ne will retreat, fire and punch. Carry out the same procedure four times to defeat him."

Bonus levels can be obtained easily. Bonus game 1; In the first level, you've got to go right until you come across the first set of three barrels. Then you must jump in between the second and third barrel to destroy the second one. Now walk in the direction of the first barrel. Your turtle will flash and youll enter the bonus stage.

Bonus game 2 can be reached by walking right until you reach a piece of pipe above your head. Here, jump into the water. Don't jump up. Walk until you reach the wall. Again, the turtle will flash and you'll enter the bonus stage.

Bonus game 3 is found at the first level of the sewer stage 4. You have to walk until you meed the first set of bats. Now jump into the water and walk under the pike in the wall.

CODES CODES!

MOUND, MOUND, GET AMOUND, I GET AMOUND

And finally, there's a hint for players stuck in Nemesis from Konami from Ian Henderson. Ian says: "Towards the end of the second stage, there's a large mound hanging from the roof of the carvern which produces bad guys. It also has a ship underneath it. Shoot out the ship and the mound and fly into the remains of the mound to enter the bonus stage.

Thanks to all our tipsters this month. If you've got any game tips are are currently floundering in a gameboy game, drop me a line at the usual address.

AMSTRAD CPC

e've gone fanzine crazy this month, readers. The postbag yielded a number of enthusiastically written and photocopied fanzines exclusively for Amstrad owners. First up, Wolfgang Rottger would like me to mention his own 'zine, CPC Power International, which can be obtained by anyone sending 4 International reply-paid coupons to:

CPC Power International, Im Vogelsang, 17 W-5000, Koln 50, Germany.

Those planning to contribute to or purchase acopy of Wolfgang's organ should be made aware, of course, that although it's packed with tips and letters and useful programming advice, it's all in German.

By far the best British fanzine to arrive is Play Mates, edited by Carl Surry from Barnet. Carl's mag is heavily games orientated and has a clubby feel which is a must for any good fanzine. Currently up to number four, Play Mates, as you would expect offers its readers a tips-line, depthy reviews of new Amstrad games and utilities, and some useful art-tips for those bent on producing a masterpiece in bytes.

You can get yourswlf a copy of Play Mates by sending 70p to:

Carl Surry 37 Fairfield Way, Barnet, Herts EN5 SBO.

COMPETITION

So you reckon your fanzine is the best do you? Well, here's your chance to prove it. Send us a copy of your fanzine, together with a list of points on why you think it covers the current Amstrad scene better than any other. We'll be awarding a prize and printing extracts from the best entry we receive in the next ACE Lines.

Send your entries to:

ACE LINES AMSTRAD FANZINE EMAP Priory Ct, Farringdon London EC!R 3AU Compo closes, 8th February.

CONSOLE YOURSELF

Gremlin Graphics have been busily working away on their first project for the Amstrad Console, and hasn't it been worth the wait!

From the size of the packet to the style of the box artwork, this feels like a very Japanese product. Gremlin have certainly taken the cartridge market by the horns.

In the game, you play Hiro, last of the Battleknights. You must collect the 16 fragments of the shattered fireblade, in order to avenge the horrific and brutal slaying of your fellow countrymen.

You begin the game alone and unarmed un an apocalyptic wasteground, populated by nothing except horrible little mechanised scorpions. Touching these cyber-beasts will incur heavy hit points and you'll also probably get dragged backwards too.

After a little practise, it becomes easy to avoid these suckers and you'll swiftly find yourself exploring the network of underground tunnels and corridors which make up the evil warlord's empire.

Life in the tunnels is short. Enemy soldiers lurk around every turning, and you'll need to collect all the available weapons to survive.

Some of the screen-flicking, even on the console is a bit poor, with the screen building up as you materialise on it. However, the detail of the backgrounds and variety of the enemies and traps you have to deal with puts Switchblade right up there with Rick Dangerous 2.

Obviously, collecting the 16 fragments of the Fireblade is far fom easy. Simply staying alive long enough to collect one seems like a tall order when you start, but the more you persevere, the greater the rewards.

Heartly congratulations go to Gremlin for a leaping headfirst into the consoles market rather than simply standing on the sidelines like so may other publishers. Full review next issue.

IBM PC

t must be hell if you're one of the many PC owners who's still working with a monchrome screen. Because no matter how easy on the eye your black and white (or for that matter amber or green) display may be, you end up looking wistfully at the glorious 256-colour VGA screenshots which adorn all computer magazines these days like a poor child with his nose pressed against the window of a sweet shop.

But do you really need all of those colours on your monitor to have a good session at your keyboard. No of course you don't: saying that colourful games are 'better' than their monochrome counterparts is like saying that Santa Claus The Movie is better than Casablanca.

Although good use of colour can enhance a playable game, if the original idea has what it takes then it doesn't matter if the display is the colour of a baboon's ass.

So now, for the first time ever, ACE is going to induct some members into its Hercules Hall Of Fame. The following list makes no claims to being exhaustive: it's simply a guide to a few already great games which lose nothing but their colour nteresting comments from Anil Khedun on the 64 PD scene this month;

'A lot of you were going to do so many thinkgs with your Commodore 64s. It was thought to be pursle for educational purposes, or at least that's what you told those who bought it for you. You would arganise your accounts, make music, write letters tc. That was in the beginning, but now people have said that the C64 has a very short life span. But that doesn't have to be the case Public Domain to the rescue! Surprosingly, a lot of 64 owners know nothing about what is available. It's time to put that right.

"When you say "public doman", what do you think of? PC? Amiga? ST? That's what the majority of users would say anyway. If you've come across the wide variety of weird and wonderful demos and programs that you can get for the 64, you'd also know that there'sa lot of life in the old beast yet.

WHAT YOU GET

"Public Domain software has a wide range of uses. You want to do some programming? There are BASIC toolkits and machine-code when they make the jump from one of the 'Gee-Ay' family to Hercules.

XENON II - MEGABLAST

The Bitmap Brothers' definitive shoot 'em up is all the more impressive on the PC than ity is on other machines because of the general lack of competition in this field. It seems that no matter what the configuration of machine it plays superbly, and the lack of colour is compensated for by a good use of grey shading. In fact, the only thing that this monster blaster is missing is support for any of the major sound boards - but then, if you've got a mono display then you're hardly likely to have one of those, are you? Xenon II is published by Image Works (071) 928 1454.

SHUFFLEPUCK CAFE

Although this isn't exactly the greatest game on Earth, it does offer a little short-lived arcade-style distraction... and it has one positive advantage in that it's actually better in mono than it is in colour! In EGA colour, the table on which this game of intergalactic air hockey is played out is a serious strain on the eyes: Hercules monochrome however, suits the game's atmosphere perfectly, making the board clearer and your opponents look very sinister indeed. Prospective Shufflepuckers should call Domark on (081) 780

SCRABBLE DE LUXE

Leisure Genius (part of the Virgin stable, on (071) 727 8070) specialises in adaptation of popular board games. And although this is soon to be superseded by Ultimate Scrabble, and this version monitors around to make life that little bit easier. You can also find a small handful of games that were produced specifically for public domain, and I must say that the ones I have seen are of a good standard, so maybe you'd like to try them out. Is that all? Well, no. A large spread of word processors, spreadsheets, databases, art utilities, music routines. The list is almost endless.

Cassette users are catered for, but the list of programs around for tape-based machines is limited. Answer; get yourself a disk drive. You'll prolong the life of your machine, and open the door to a flood of new software.

Games will still be produced, of course, but there's nothing like a bit of funky music with flashy graphics to make you gasp. I've seen a lot of demos and they all seem to come from our European counterparts; Denmark, Germany, Norway etc. And they compete with each other to show off their talent. Exciting

While there will always be music and graphics demos for the Amiga, some of the finer 64 programs genuinely push the machine to its limits. A lot of these can be found on Compunet and can be downloaded, but for people who don't have access to a modem, the public domain is where a large number of these demos and other programs can be

There aren't many PD clubs around that cater solely for 64 users, so if you know of anyone who distributes stuff, write in to ACE and let the world know they exist. The 64 will will probably end up on a budget label pretty soon, this one in particular works just as well (if not a little better) whether coloured or not.

PIPEMANIA

Empire's plumbing puzzler has just picked up a prestigious Tilt d'Or award - and luckily this wasn't for its exceptional use of colour. Rather than simply changing the colours to greys, Hercules Pipemania utilises an all-new character and graphics set: whereas the colour version can carry off some extraneous graphical bits and bobs, this two-colour effort uses a plain grid and simplified piping to make the graphics as clear as possible with no loss of playability. If you're interested, contact Empire on (0268) 541126.

PRINCE OF PERSIA

Broderbund's Middle-Eastern arcade adventure has caused quite a stir in the ACE office (as you may have noticed), and for once you owners of mono-screened PCs aren't going to be left in the dark as to what all the fuss is about. Although Hercules Prince Of Persia uses a smaller screen size than its couloured brothers, it's been rescaled perfectly and the main character still moves with the grace and dexterity of an olympic gymnast. Like all Broderbund games, this one is distributed in these parts by Domark - (081) 780 2222.

So, there we are. If you're willing to hunt around, it's perfectly possible to olay lots of highquality games in Hercules. There's no need for non-vga players to lose out on the fun had by their colour counterparts.

Ciaran Brennan

be supported for a long while yet. Remember. Public Domain is only as good as the people who will continue to support it. Long live the Commodore 64!

TELL ME MORE!

If it's demos you're after, then I heartily recommend WICKED PD. Write to:

Wicked PD PO BOX 633 Basildon Essex.

Also try Compunet's pages. They're full of good demos, utilities and general tips. Write

Compunet Unit 26 Sheraton Business Centre Wadsworth Road, Perivale Middlesex UB7 7JB

If you would like a copy of Demo of the Year II (a compilation of European demos from 1988), just send a blank disk and a stamp to me and I'll send you a taster of what's in

B.A.T.

Ubisoft ● Amiga £34.99 ● Atari ST £34.99 ● PC £TBA ● C64 £TBAdk/cart Set in the 22nd Century, you play an agent of the Bureau of Astral Troubleshooters, or B.A.T. for short. The arch-criminal Vrangor (made-up name!) is holding the planet Selenia, home of the galaxy's major businesses, to ransom with chemical weapons. Lose Selenia and there'll be galaxy-wide trouble. You've got to find Vrangor and stop him - quick! Two years in the making, all that effort shows in this graphic adventure par excellence. Every location and event is depicted graphically, with all game interaction carried out using the mouse. Not so much a game, more a way of life. As an added bonus, there's a plug-in soundcard to give the humble ST Amiga-quality samples. * ACE RATING 908 ON ATARI ST

BATTLE CHESS 2

Electronic Arts ● Amiga £24.99 ● Atari ST £24.99 • PC £29.99 Sequel-itis spreads from Hollywood to the computer industry! This time round the rules are based on the Chinese variant of Chess, which introduces some new moves, has a river bisecting the board (which some pieces can't cross) and limits the King's movement to an 'Imperial Palace'. As before the board is viewed in 3D, with all the pieces 'taking' each other in a variety of amusing and well-animated ways. While a bit slow and irritating running from floppies due to all the swapping, a hard disc shows the game to be far faster and more lethal than normal Chess. A good purchase for jaded Chess fans. * ACE RATING 895 ON IBM PC

BUCK ROGERS: COUNT-DOWN TO DOOMSDAY

SSI/US Gold ● Amiga £TBA ● PC £TBA ● C64 £TBA

The year is 2456, and Buck Rogers, tactical genius and fearless defender of freedom, is defrosted from cryogenic suspension to help lead rebels on a ravaged Earth to victory and freedom from a tyrannical government. An RPG with similarities to the SSI AD&D games, the action is viewed in familiar pseudo-3D. All interaction is menu driven, with selections made by clicking the mouse. The number of locations are many and varied, and most are introduced by an attractive picture. Fans of this genre should be more than happy with this, and the space setting makes a welcome change from the usual medieval fantasy. * ACE RATING 885 ON AMIGA

CAPTIVE

Mindscape ● Amiga £24.99 ● Atari ST/E £24.99 ● PC £29.99 Another in the ever expanding number of RPGs portrayed using firstperson perspective. Captive, written by veteran programmer Tony Crowther, pits you against hordes of rampaging aliens, with nothing to defend you but a briefcase. This briefcase, however, contains a computer giving you remote control over a four-droid team with which you must free yourself from the fortress where you are imprisoned. Excellent bitmapped graphics, atmospheric real-time stereo sound and a total of 65000 levels to explore place Captive very much in the ACE-rated category. * ACE RATING 930 ON AMIGA

COVERT ACTION

Microprose ● PC £39.99 Yet another secret agent game! You play Max Remington, ex-CIA man. who is now earning a crust as a undercover investigator. However. Max is known to waive the fee for the President of the United States. On offer are four skill levels, three mission areas, three crime types and over a dozen enemy operatives to contend with. As you would expect from Microprose there's a wealth of detail and the tasks on offer are going to require many months of work to crack. Go to it,

* ACE RATING 902 ON IBM PC

CORPORATION

Core Design ● Atari ST £24.99 ● Amiga £24.99 ● PC £29.99 This role-playing cybernetic extravaganza from CORE pushes the limits of previous RPG's just that bit further. Corporation is a 3-D exploration, puzzle-orientated arcade combat game (?) in the mould made traditional by the original Dungeon Master RPG. Your objective is to find and remove an embryo belonging to the ultimate biogenetic killing machine, bred by the UCC Corp. Light-source shaded raphics and sound of film-like quality, along with excellent playability and an intuitive control method all contributed in pushing Corporation over the 900

* ACE RATING 945 ON AMIGA

DAMOCLES

Novagen ● Atari ST £24.95 ● Amiga £24.95 ● PC £TBA This unusual combination of flight sim and adventure game, and sequel to the well-received Mercenary, has been in development for a couple of years now, but the resulting game has been worth the wait. The wireframe graphics of the original game have been replaced by solid 3D vector graphics, but they are just as fast. There are now nine planets to explore instead of one city, so there is plenty of long term challenge here.

* ACE RATING 935 ON ATARI ST

F-19 STEALTH FIGHTER

Microprose ● Atari ST £29,99 ● Amiga £29.99 ● PC £39.99 A program that could well be described as the Flight Simulator's Flight Simulator. The PC version has enjoyed much success since its launca year ago, and now it's brothers on the ST and Amiga look set to do the same. The sim is based around the much talked about (or perhaps that be whispered about) Stealth Fighter. It boasts four huge sceanrios with hundreds of missions, and plenty of detail. If you are looking for the definitive flight sim, then you can't go far wrong with this one.

4D SPORTS BOXING

Mindscape ● Amiga £24.99 ● Atari ST £24.99 • PC £24.99 This violent clash between two solid-polygon generated pugilists is the best rendition of the 'noble art' yet seen on a home computer. The use of ploygons allows the action to be viewed from absolutely any angle, and a video playback option allows you to watch that decisive upper-cut again and again. Highly realistic, with a huge range of moves and a lot of work to be put in if you're going to become World

* ACE RATING 900 ON IBM PC

4D SPORTS DRIVING

Mindscape Amiga £24.99 Atari ST £24.99 • PC £24.99 A 3D-polygon racing game - and arguably the best yet, providing far more depth than its nearest rival, Indy 500 though how it compares to Hard Drivin' 2 has yet to be seen. Can be played against the clock or another driver, in which case each designs a course, trying to exploit the weaknesses of the other (i.e fear of heights!). Both drivers then race on the two tracks. Spectacular wins and crashes can be viewed from any angle in the playback option. A successful mix of simulation and knock-about fun.

* ACE RATING 880 ON IBM PC

Mirrorsoft/PSS • PC £29.99 Quite simply the best naval simulation to be released for the General Public. The battleset that comes with the game deals with East-West conflict in the North Sea, but other battlesets will be available soon. A clever system of three map types is used to effectively manage each mission. The nice thing about Harpoon is that the computer takes care of all the boring mechanics, allowing you to concentrate on broad tactics. A must buy for anyone interested in modern navel war-

Amiga £24.99

Nothing new in the plot department, unfortunately. Old wizard...enter dungeon...defeat monsters...avoid traps...solve puzzles...rescue Grand Wizard...etc.etc. However, the presentation is something else. An isometric-3D angle is used to view the events, and your character moves around it freely, combating monsters and so on. Every move is beautifully animated. There are only 50 locations to visit, but every one is going to take a lot of work to puzzle through. WARNING! - this program only works on 1Mb machines!

* ACE RATING 910 ON ATARI ST

INDIANAPOLIS 500

Electronic Arts • PC £24.95 • Amiga £24.95

The ultimate racing game. Indy 500 uses state of the art solid vector graphics which really add something to the high speed action. As in Activision's Bomber there are a variety of out-of-cockpit views to select from, the realistic handling of the cars will have you coming back to this game time and time again.

* ACE RATING 935 ON IBM PC

LOTUS ESPRIT TURBO CHALLENGE

Gremlin Graphics • 16-bit formats £24.99 • 8-bit formats £10.99 Remember Pit Stop II? Gremlin obviously do, because this game employs a similar split-screen effect as that ageing classic to allow two players to race against each other at the same time. This, and the fact that the 3D effect actually does convince you that you're travelling at the speed on your meter, puts Lotus way ahead of the rest of the pack. With 32 tracks, 3 difficulty levels and the option to choose between automatic and manual gears, this is one racing game with fair a bit of mileage.

* ACE RATING 875 ON AMIGA

MIDWINTER

Microprose Atari ST £29.99 Amiga £TBA ● PC £TBA The latest mega hit from top programmer Mike Singleton, creator of Lords of Midnight. The game is set on a frozen island in the future. Your task is to recruit members of the Peace Force to fight off General Masters' invasion force. This is done by managing people and resources via a series of Fractal Maps and menus. The game has disappointing sound, but nice 3D

System 3 ● 8-bit formats £8.99cs/£14.99dk

The game that pushes the C64 and Spectrum further than they have ever been before. Fight your way through several time zones to reach the ultimate confrontation with the god Dameron. The game is captivating not only because of it's size and depth but also because of the superbly animated sprites and sheer playability.

POWERMONGER

Electronic Arts ● Amiga £29.99 ● Atari ST £29.99

A new computer classic, with one of the highest ACE ratings ever. You play a warlord, exiled from your homeland along with twenty followers, who has just landed on the shores of 200 islands, ripe for conquering. Unfortunately the current residents are not quite so keen on your enforced leadership, and will do all they can to resist you. Using a similar viewpoint to Populous, the landscape is here polygon-based and thus can be manipulated in just about any way you require. The excellent visuals are supported by highly atmospheric sound. All control is by mouse, and couldn't be easier. To play it is to worship it. An absolutely essential buy.

* ACE RATING 973 ON AMIGA

PRINCE OF PERSIA

Broderbund/Domark ● Amiga £24.99 ● Atari ST £24.99 ● IBM PC £24.99

A game that could so easily go unnoticed and unloved by the shelfscouring hordes looking for the latest licence. The graphics, when static, are fairly unimpressive (although they do get a lot better in later levels), but when they move... The animation as you guide a young Prince through umpteen levels of platforms, pits, spikes and swordsmen is quite excellent and life-like. And the gameplay, although it may sound uninspired, is as good as the graphics. Some of the action has a real cliff-hanger aspect to it. A gem.

* ACE RATING 915 ON AMIGA

RICK DANGEROUS 2

Microstyle ● 16-bit formats £24.99 ■ 8-bit formats £9.99cs/£14.99dk After his Indy-inspired adventures in the prequel, Rick looks to the stars and dons leotard and blond quiff for his second run-in with the Fat Man. Set over five levels, the game generously allows the player to take on the first four in any order. The graphics and sounds are nice, but not stunning. With platform games playability is everything, and RD2 has it in buckets.

* ACE RATING 870 ON ATARI ST

SAVAGE EMPIRE

Origin/Mindscape ● PC £34.99 ● Amiga £TBA

Using the Ultima VI interface, Origin have taken a side-step from the medieval world of their previous games, and now plunge you into a nightmare scenario where you control a party of characters mysteriously transported to a dinosaur-infested Lost World, full to the brim with new quests. A rollicking good yarn well told and - hard to believe we know - actually better than Ultima VI.

* ACE RATING 955 ON IBM PC

SIMULCRA

Microstyle ● Amiga £24.99 ● Atari ST £24.99

In the future, physical conflict is a thing of the past, with all wars being fought in Cyberspace. However, a virus has caused the simulated battles to spill into 'true' reality. You must enter the 'battle matrix', destroy the rampaging simulcraft and ultimately the matrix itself. Although basically a shoot-'em-up, with the usual variety of add-ons to pick up, Simulcra's claim to fame is the incredible rotating patchwork 3D world where the combat takes place. Fast and furious action, excellent aesthetics and a slight strategy element make this one of the best games of the year.

quite dreadful!) humour, graphics (occasionally animated) and - most importantly - an engaging plot with loads of sub-scenarios. The only minus point is the antiquated parser, which had to be told to do everything.

* ACE RATING 895 ON IBM PC

SPEEDBALL 2

Mirrorsoft ● Amiga £24.99 ● Atari ST £24.99 ● PC £TBA

The sequel to the Bitmap Bros' violent '88 hit. Basically more of the same but with improved graphics, a bigger multi-directional scrolling pitch (festooned with bumpers and ball energisers), extra power-ups and armour to pick up or buy between games, smoother control and a depth-enhancing player-manager element. Highly playable, and the power-ups do have a noticeable effect on the game. More fun that beating up your kid brother. Or even better, play your brother in two-play mode then beat him up! * ACE RATING 889 ON ATARI ST

SPINDIZZY WORLDS

Activision ● Amiga £24.99 ● Atari ST £24.99

Yet another sequel (sort of) to Paul

Shirley's original 8-bit game. This one sees the return of GERALD (the un-contrived Geographic Environmental Reconnaisance And Land-mapping Device), who resembles a spinning top and you have to guide around 32 multidirectional-scrolling 'worlds' of precipitous platforms, icy ramps, lifts, switches and roaming nasties in a search for diamonds. A clever mix of arcade thrills and puzzle-solving that requires you put in a little effort at first, but will make you glad you did in the end.

* ACE RATING 890 ON AMIGA AND 880 ON ATARI ST

TEAM YANKEE

Empire International ● Amiga £29.99 ● Atari ST £29.99 ● PC £34.99

The interesting use of 3D bit-mapped graphics to depict the action rather than the expected polygons pays off in this involving tank war simulation. Although they get a little blocky close-up, this is more than compensated for by their speed and detail (half the trick is being able to correctly identify your own vehicles and not fire on them!). You control a four tank platoon, which you can switch between with ease, on a wide range of missions. Early accessibility but mounting complexity as you gain experience make this a perfect purchase for any strategist from novice to master.

* ACE RATING 893 ON AMIGA

ULTIMA VI

Origin/Mindscape ● Atari ST £TBA ● Amiga £TBA ● PC £34.99 ● C64 £TBA

The ultimate rôle playing game. Sixteen thousand objects, two hundred and fifty characters, unlimited encounters, a quest that will take months to solve, and graphics better than you'll see on any other game of this type. The Ultima series of RPGs go from strength to strength. Join forces with Lord British and once more enter the fray... unbeatable stuff! And if you find it's to your taste, the icing on the cake is that Origin are now produci cenarios using the same system: Savage Empire is already out...see ACE issue 39.

* ACE RATING 950 ON IBM PC

WING COMMANDER

Origin/Mindscape ● Amiga £TBA ● PC £34.99

Another 3D space combat game, but any sense of deja vu is completely dispelled by the use of stunning ray-traced and digitised graphics for the spaceships. They rotate, shrink and grow with amazing speed and fluidity. Animated scenes punctuate the action and present the first true cinematic experience on a home computer. The multitude of missions mean this isn't a game of surface gloss. Sadly only best appreciated on a high speed PC.

* ACE RATING 949 ON IBM PC

WONDERLAND

Magnetic Scrolls ● Amiga £29.99 ● Atari ST £29.99 ● PC £34.99 The Scrolls, having stunned the world with The Pawn way back in 1987, return with a new classic. An adventure game based on the famous novel Alice in Wonderland, the plot follows the book enough to retain its weird flavour but not so slavishly as to make it solvable by simply knowing the story. The lavish text, teeming with hundreds of tough (but logical) puzzles, is accompanied by a number of stunning animated graphic scenes. All adventure fans kneel and pray - an essential buy. * ACE RATING 910 ON IBM PC

Software Circus' bonanza sale has already kicked off, with some great deals on ST, Amiga and PC software in its London-based stores (store locations are given below).

The Microbyte chain will be holding sales in most outlets throughout January, along with a special double Collect'n'Select stamp promo. Pick up a Collect'n'Select folder from the store and then each time you make a purchase you'll be given stamps to stick in it. Amass a certain number of stamps and you can trade in the folder for free products. Double Collect'n'Select means more stamps for your purchases.

In the last week of Jan, the Virgin Games Centres' sales begin in all stores around the country. Virgin promises oodles of software, a few bargain consoles, and add-ons such as joysticks going for a song.

As for special offers on particular games, these are notoriously difficult to arrange at this time of year, thanks to the phenomenon of 'Christmas slippage' - products due before Christmas that mysteriously creep into shops in January. However, Virgin is planning (yet another) giant set of special offers on Sega consoles for the first two weeks of 1991 - so check individual stores for details.

Software Circus is taking heart from the increasing popularity of the PC-compatibles for entertainment junkies, and will be featuring some new US imports in its stores round about now. Also, Software Circus should have a new store opening soon, probably in the City of London area, so if you work round there, you'll be able to go software shopping in your lunch hour. Full details in this column as soon the plans are finalised.

On the hardware side, Computer Store's Amiga Megabundle is still on sale. For £799 you can buy a pack including the Amiga 500, colour monitor and Citizen printer, complete with blank disks, dust cover, mouse mat and printer paper.

There are Microbyte stores in the Arndale Centre, Manchester; the Broadmarsh Centre, Nottingham; Kirkgate, Wakefield; the Metro Centre, Gateshead; the Greenmarket, Newcastle Upon Tyne; the Kirkgate Centre, Bradford; the Bull Ring Centre, Birmingham; the County Arcade, Leeds; Pasture Road, Goole; Meadow Hall Centre, Sheffield; St John's Centre, Liverpool, and St George's Centre, Preston.

Virgin has Games Centre on London's Oxford Street (at Marble Arch, within the Megastore, and at No. 100), Bristol, Kingston and Oxford, and also in Megastores in Belfast, Birmingham, Brighton, Cardiff, Dublin, Edinburgh, Glasgow (at Union St and Argyle St), Leeds, and Nottingham.

Both Software Circus outlets are in London's West End; one in The Plaza, Oxford Street, the other at 282, High Holborn, London WC1.

The Computer Store chain is based in Yorkshire, with shops at Printing Office St, Doncaster; Ivegate, Bradford; Trinity St Arcade, Leeds; Market Place, Huddersfield; Westmoreland St, Wakefield; St Sampson's Square, York; The Woolshops, Halifax; Market St, Barnsley; High Street, Scunthorpe; Pinstone Street, Sheffield, and the Broadmarsh Centre, Nottingham.

All offers and promos are subject to stock availability. Although we do our best to ensure our information is accurate at the time of going to press, ACE cannot take any responsibility for changes or cancellations to dealers' plans.

Attention dealers! Don't keep your promotions, competitions, special offers, etc, a secret. Tell us at ACE and we'll tell everybody else!

ADVENTURELINE

Stuck in an adventure? Write in with the name of the game and the nature of your problem. Be as specific as possible and I'll do my best to answer (on these pages only so no SAEs please), and if I don't know the answer, I know a man who.....! News, tips, gossip, anecdotes and adventuring trivia are also all most welcome. Write to me, Pat Winstanley, Adventureline, Pink Box, Priory Court, 30-32 Farringdon Lane, London, EC1R 3AU

NOW HEAR THIS!

If you want to contribute to these pages, get your pen out and start scriblling! Particularly welcome are short, self-contained hints and single problem solutions. I'm also interested to hear of PD and Shareware programs - the best will be reviewed (space permitting), as I've done with Jungle Bungle here. So get in touch!

CAPTIVE

This month I've been plugging away at CAP-TIVE and in the course of seeking help have discovered a handy hint for starting off with stronger than usual characters. If you name an android "ANN DROID" you'll end up with attributes of 6, 15 and 15 - quite a flying start. There is also a name based on Batman which creates good attributes - has anyone found a name which will give a straight 15 across the board?

Still on Captive, once you collect some firearms, watch where the shots go. Weapons such as the Hunter shoot high, while Magnums shoot low. On one of the early planets you'll be confronted by floating monsters which are inaccessible to handguns unless you use the Anti-Grav to turn upside down. It's not necessary to explore every cranny of each level-sometimes all the extra rooms hold are extra monsters. While this means extra money, the cost of repairing your armour can outweigh any gains made!

Try to collect as many probes as possible early on, then instead of crippling yourself dragging them around with you (as I did!), set them all off as soon as possible, making a note of the co-ordinates and order in which future planets are found. Another idiot thing I managed was to land on planets which apparently contained a single square of land - yes, you've got it - who forgot to centre the crosshairs on the one and only island!

Don't bother with fancy weapons until you have the skill to use them. The monetary system is well judged to match your progress, and better weapons cost far more to arm than simpler, equally effective ones. By the way, peep round corners carefully (and save regularly) as there are some enemies - namely those men with cannons shooting blue cannonballs - who will take you out with one shot! However, careful use of doors as shields can cause enemy fire to bounce back on the nasty opponent, and cause it to effectively commit suicide. But watch out - the same can happen to you as I discovered to my cost! Space Station, here I come......

LEISURE SUIT LARRY 2

Augustus De Silva's solution romps on. Time now for some holiday antics. Try on the shorts you bought behind the cupboard. Now go to the pool, put on the sunscreen and wait on the sunbed until a woman comes. Don't follow her because she is a KGB agent. Dive into the pool and swim. Get the bikini top under water quickly, get out of the pool and cover yourself with sunscreen again. Sit down, and again, ignore the woman because she is another KGB agent.

Now go back to your cabin and wear your leisure suit. Save your game before entering the other room. Open the night stand drawer and quickly get the sewing kit and leave. Head for the bridge and move the switch on the right hand side without distracting the captain's attention. The alarm should sound, so run for the lifeboat. Jump in, and when in the water wear the wig, use sunscreen and eat the spinach dip. In 10 days you'll be on the beach.

Go south in the vegetation and get a flower then find a gap in the vegetation and you should be at the restaurant. Talk to the man and wait until you are shown to a table. Then sit on the waiting chair, and once you are allowed in get the knife at the buffet bar. Leave, finding another gap, and you should be in a guest room where you should pick up the soap and matches before heading for the barbers.

ZAK MCKRACKEN

Mike Bareham's solution continues. You should now be controlling Annie. Walk to the airport and use the reservations terminal to buy a ticket to Cairo. Walk to the plane the walk outside. Go to the leg on the sphinx with the secret door in it and enter. Use the sphinx map again to find the room with the secret panel in it. When you are there, read the hieroglyphics and push the buttons on the wall in the order they say. Switch to Zak. Use the crayon on the wallpaper map.

Read the strange markings on the wall and make a diagram of them, calling it No. 3. Use the sphinx map again to find your way back to

LET ME KNOW!

If there's any special subject you'd like to see covered in Adventureline, then let me know at the address in the panel on the left. the airport. Buy a ticket to Kinshasha and board the plane. Walk through the jungle as before until you get back to the village. Enter the shaman's hut and give him the yellow crystal. He will now show you how to use it and you will end up outside the hut. Use the yellow crystal and you will see the wallpaper map. Click on Egypt which is in the middle right of the map. You will now be teleported to the secret room in the top of the pyramid. Walk to the left and pull the lever on the side of the wall.

Switch to Annie and use the sphinx map to find your way out. Go left to the pyramid and through the door. It is very dark in here so use the "what is?" command to find the door. Now go in and walk as far left as you can . Again use the "what is?" command, this time to find the stairs, then go up them. You are now in the room with Zak. Pull the lever in the side of the wall and switch to Zak. Hints for Puzzled Paladins and Confused Conjurers - from Paul Hardy

INGRID'S BACK

And don't you wish she wasn't. Drive the carriage to the top of the hill and ride it down again - then try to cross the bridge with your additional speed. The rock will fly you to the top of the lighthouse if you ask it. At the back of Isfrunt's house "Flopsy, wait for Isfrunt, Hold Isfrunt" To slow the steamroller, follow Giroah and tell Giroah to lie down in front of it. To distract the butler say "Daisy, goto porch, knock, z, knock, z knock, z, knock, z"

ADVENTURE GAME TOOLKIT

A couple of months ago I mentioned HATRACK II, an adventure creator for the Amiga. This month a plug for AGT for the ST. AGT gives two levels of use. Standard level is billed as being for those with no programming experience (honest) and simply requires the use of a word-processor or text editor to create descriptions of locations, objects, action results etc. The Professional level however gives the user the opportunity to use meta language to create complex games with Infocom style look and feel. A good range of adventures written with AGT is currently available, although the standard of the games I've seen is very variable. As with any other programming language, what comes out is directly related to the imagination and precision of what goes in. AGT is well worth a look, and with a registration fee of only $20 if you use the system, not a particularly expensive addition to your collection. AGT and several games written with it are available from the Goodman PD library (0782) 335650. This library has a strong interest in adventures and is well worth contacting for a catalogue (£1.95 for 60 pages which include reviews and articles in addition to software lists) on the above number.

ZORK ZERO

To put the bedbug to sleep, sing to it and it will trouble you no more. Sit on Dimwit's favourite throne and snap fingers to reveal a secret tunnel. In the library, rub armour three time to find something which may be useful.

BEYOND ZORK

To help the minx, erase footprints when you hear the hunter approaching. To slay the Undead Warrior you will need some holy water. Then simply throw vial at warrior. When you have the rabbit's foot, rub it for luck. By the bye, this is still one of the better text games around

RED MOON

Turn the handle to drain the lake. To get the firesword, wear gloves. As soon as the game begins, dig for a crown. To open the safe, turn it. Throw the raisin to create a floating, glowing sphere. Wear the wellies to pass the metal room. Bury your opponents to defeat your enemies easily and stop them reincarnating as ghosts

When you find the moon crystal, get crystal. To slay the dragons, wave fan. A silver crucifix will hold Mandana the Vampire at bay, but a floating glowing sphere will kill him. To stop the demon killing you, rub the line out. In the room of flashing lights, drop the black ball. Wear the bracers to enable you to carry more. Fill the bottle with water, and give it to Kelf, the human who is dying of thirst.

CAPTAIN COMIC

£3.50 PC - REQUIRES 256K

HEN I STARTED WRITING THIS COLUMN OUR ESTEEMED EDITOR CHARGED ME WITH THE TASK OF GOING BOLDLY FORTH AND SEEKING OUT THE BEST IN PD AND SHAREWARE GAMES FOR THE AMIGA, ST AND PC. "THE PC?" I SAID, "WHO IN THEIR RIGHT MINDS WOULD WRITE A GAME FOR THE PC AND GIVE IT AWAY?" MICHAEL DENIO IT SEEMS, IS ONE SUCH PERSON. ALTHOUGH JUDGING BY HIS INTRODUCTION TO COMIC, HE SHARES MY VIEWS ABOUT

SHAREWARE. COMIC, INCIDENTALLY IS FREEWARE, BUT IF I UNDERSTAND MIKE CORRECTLY, LIBRARIES SHOULD NOT BE DISTRIBUTING IT.

So what about the game? It's an arcade adventure set in space. You play the main character, Captain Comic faced with the task of recovering three lost treasures stolen from the planet Omsoc and hidden somewhere on planet Tambi. Travelling through eight different - and beautifully illustrated landscapes - the Captain can feast on his Blast-O-Cola, do battle with a variety of bug- eyed and multi-coloured monsters until finally completing his Visually the game looks much like a simplified version of Shadow Of The Beast and owes much to the EGA graphics and good character design. The sound, as usual, is a let down but this is endemic in almost all PC titles. Also, the control keys initially require the manual dexterity of an Indian rubber man.

Cavils aside, Captain Comic is a real whizz of a title

WE WANT YOU

"Cor blimey mate – they haven't covered Revenge Of The Mutant Hero Terrapins." Well, if I haven't seen it, I can hardly write about it. Drop YOUR PD/Shareware game to Mark Smiddy, Co. ACE Priory Court, 30-32 Farringdon Lane, LONDON, EC1R 3AU marking your envelope in LARGE LETTERS "PINK PD". Remember – if you don't tell the world, the world won't sign cheques!

easy enough for old crankies like me to get somewhere, yet just hard enough to retain that one-more-go appeal and keep the nine-year- old from next door amused for hours. This game may be Freeware but please send Mike something if you like it. There are few good games in the PD and very few of those take advantage of EGA graphics. If you want to try just one PD PC game, get this one.

ARCADIA AMIGA £2.50 - MOUSE

When STOS appeared it came with the superb breakout clone, Orbit. The AMOS launch saw no such classics - until now. At last someone (Ronnie Simpson actually) has got round to writing one based on the hugely successful Arkanoid. This excellent (and devilishly clever) version not only comes with no less than 50 screens ready to go - but includes a level designer too.

The game plays very much like Arkanoid: that is you bounce a ball up the screen to try to knock bricks from a wall. Arkanoid added a new dimension to this simple game with bonus barrels. The idea of these is, when collected, they give the bat or ball extra properties. Only seven barrels are built into the game: Slowdown, Magnet, Extra ball, Bomb(!), Wipe out bricks, Hard ball and Elongate bat. There is little doubt more could be added by some enterprising programmer.

SHAMELESS PLUG

Thanks to the following:
PC: Advantage Shareware - 0242

Excepting the super title screen, visually the game is not the best of the genre (not bad, just not brilliant) but there's no reason why some kind-hearted artist could not beef the graphics up a bit. This would make a great game brilliant. If this were the case though, then Arcadia should be Licenceware - at this price though, get a copy!

Breakout fiends will find it a must - it kept me quiet for hours.

PICK-A-PUZZLE

AMIGA £2.50 - MOUSE

Len Tucker alias Sparx, the man behind the top-selling Jungle Bungle and Thingymajig has done it again. This time, he has created a fiendishly difficult, devilishly complex jigsaw puzzle game for adults. This mention of adults does not have the usual implications, it just means Len thinks it too tricky for kids. Personally, I'd agree - it's darned difficult on Level I - even with the help.

Based on the traditional idea of jigsaws, the game is supplied with eight puzzles in all, with data disks available in the PD and a screen designer in the pipeline. Enthusiasts will find it a real challenge - as will almost anyone who finds violence associated with normal games a turn off. Nice one Len (again).

DRAGON'S TOWER

A very long time ago, when I was still programming games for a living (old programmers never die, they just become critics) I wrote a game for the BBC Micro called Crazee Caverns. But, I hear you cry, why mention this now? Simple, because Dragon's Tower is in many ways similar to Crazee. It was written in machine code and took months of tortuous work to put together. It used some (at the time) ground breaking code like flicker free sprites that didn't affect the background and pixel perfect collision detection.

Crazee's graphics weren't staggering - but par for the time. This is one area where Dragon's Tower scores - the undeniably cute graphics are beautifully drawn and indistinguishable from a commercial title. You play the part of a simple knight, charged (I imagine) with ridding troublesome, fire breathing dragons from your local castle. To this end the game features a vertical scroller something like Flip-it and Magnose or Goldrunner (remember that one?). This is all smooth, precise and faultlessly done - so what has gone wrong?

Simple - or rather, not simple but difficult - too difficult. Dragon's Tower is just too tough to be playable; even my hardened team of play testers could not get off level two. This is a great shame and its author would be well advised to take another look at the game and build in some easier screens. As it stands, Dragon's Tower is a testament to what good games should look like and a demonstration of how they should not play.

DOUGLAS ROCKMOOR

ST £3.95 - JOYSTICK

This is only getting a brief mention this month because it really deserves pride of place. Old hacks should have guessed what it is already; the title should be a clue. It's yet another Boulderdash clone. The difference is this is quite simply the best available anywhere! Catch is you'll need 1Meg to run it. Distributors, Budgie promise a 512K version soon - the full review can wait until then. If you do have a 1Meg machine and you were a fan of the original (C64 and Atari) Boulderdash, get this and see what the ST can do

ACE FREEBIES WORKS!

ACE knows this column actually results in more sales for participating libraries - at least one has had to be rescued from under the deluge of extra mail. So why, we wonder, are all those nice PC people sitting back and saying it's not for us? Come on folks - if you don't hurry your boat will get sunk by the ST and Amiga crowd. Are you really going to suffer that outrage?

THINK 8, THINK ACE!

Don't forget: ACE has always been published on the first Thursday of every month, but it now appears on the shelves on the 8th of on the shelves on the 8th of every month instead.

The new system will make a big difference in terms of coverage and consistency, so think 8, think ACE! (©EMAP Jingles 1991)

SOOPER FAMICOM!

he Super Famicom looks sexier and sexier. Although there are still very few games available for it on the grey market, there's still one thing about the machine that suggests it may deliver a few heavyweight surprises during the coming year. It's the holes, you see, guv...

Most consoles don't have that many holes. There's usually a couple for joysticks, one for the monitor/TV, and the more successful consoles usually manage to have one for cartridges.

The Super Famicom, however, has holes for all sorts of things. And there is now no doubt that one use for them will be the provision of a CD-ROM drive in the 'very near future'.

NEC have already proved that consoles and CD's go well together, with almost 60% of the world's installed base of CD-ROM drives being attached to PC Engines. However, the Super Famicom has sufficient processing clout to do clever things with a CD-ROM, and Nintendo may well be considering adding CD+G and CD audio capability into the peripheral unit. By linking the console to the audio CD market, the company could spread even further the penetration of games units. Good news for all of us...

Now that we're safely ensconced in 1991, here are Blitter's awards to the Industry for 1990...

1. The Daftest Business Decision of the Year
NEC for their continued dithering over the PC Engine UK release. Never in the field of games technology has a machine been wanted so badly by so many and held up by so few.

2. The Most Outrageous Hype of the Year
Renegade for their promotion of the Bit
Brothers. It's surely no coincidence that the first Renegade Bit Map title will be called Gods...

3. The Most Overused Phrase of the Year Virtual reality. Closely followed by Cowabunga.

4. The Sauciest Ad of the Year Ubisoft's Ranx ad was..well..rank.

5. Most Disappointing Footy Game of the Year

Er...all of them. Kick Off 2 is not a footy game, it's a way of life.

6. The BBC Repeats Award for Deja Vu Elite, for giving us more of what we've seen before than we've ever seen before.

7. The Failed-In-Wales-Again Award SAM. You'll never play it again...

8. The Most Sensible Business Decision of the Year

The Lynx price cut.

9. The Best Attended Press Conference of the Year

Microprose's launch for M1 Tank Platoon at Bovington Camp. The food, for 30, was barely sufficient for Wild Bill Stealey, Martin PR Man Moth, and the ACE Editor.

10. The Most Obvious Piece of Padding at The End of An Issue

There have been no nominations for this category.

And now, to close, a word from our new Editor, Jim Douglas.

'I aim to make this a magazine for mature readers. And knockers to anyone who disagrees...'

ANOTHER CHANCE TO SHINE!

Yes, we're giving you another chance to demonstrate your incredible wit and repartee. Our photograph shows two well-known industry figures. We want to know who they are and what their New Year Resolutions were. Send your entry on a postcard to ACE Celebrity Resolutions, Pink Pages, 30-32 Farringdon Lane, London, EC1R 3AU. The usual £25 worth of software for the most inspired entry – so don't forget your address and machine format. Closing date February 8th 1991.

NEXT MONTH'S RED HOT!

...and we mean it! Not only will you be able to luxuriate in a full exclusive preplay of Midwinter 2: Flames of Freedom, but there'll also be a special cover-mounted gift to commemorate Mike Singleton's latest megagame.

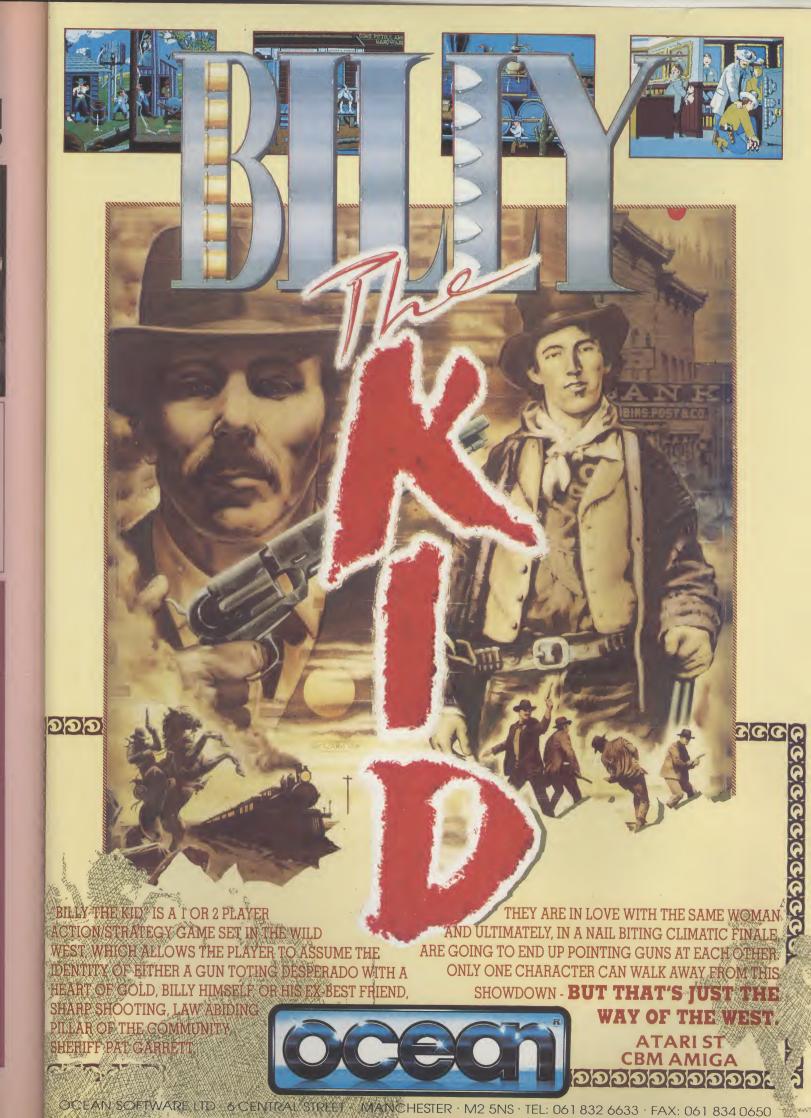

Hot on the outside, blazing within...with a sneak preview of Populous 2, the latest news from the massive CES show in Las Vegas, development reports from Electronic Arts' US office, and up-to-the-minute information on the latest Californian silicon weirdoes. And if that's not enough for you, we'll also have the second part of our Greatest Games of All Time listing and a whacky report from the Toy Fair.

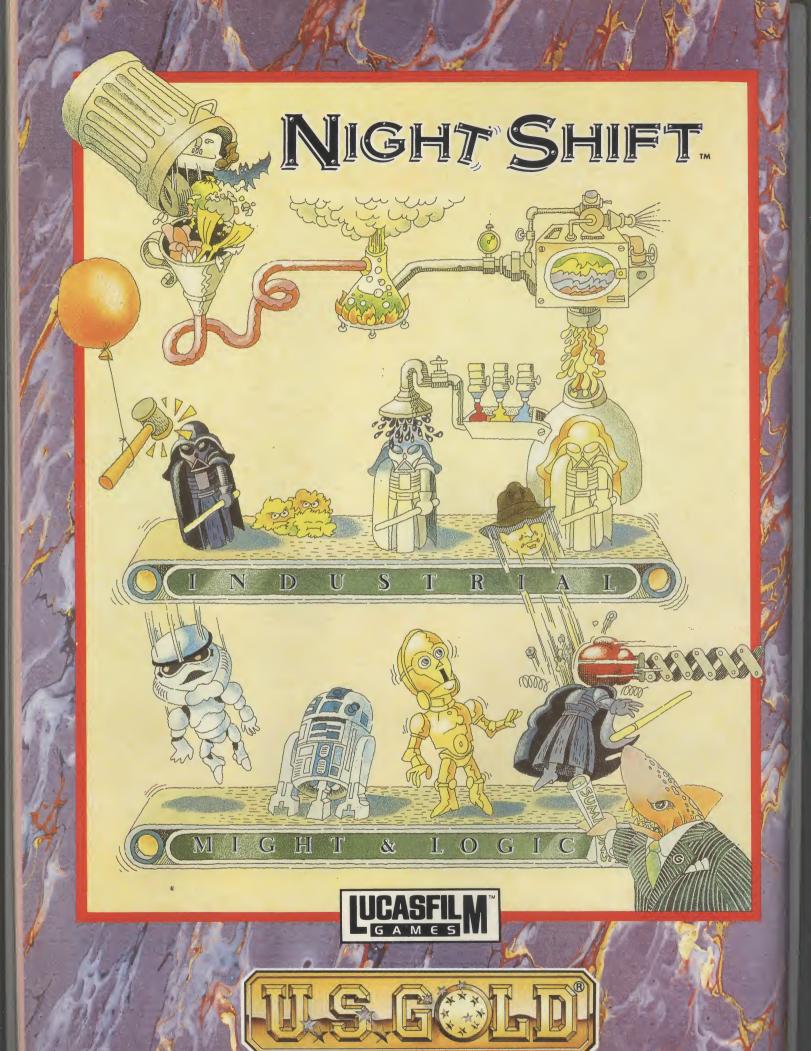

ACE 42, out on Friday, February 8th – burning with the white heat of games technology!

DEAR	NEWS.	AGENT,
------	-------	--------

I like the magazine so much, I want to buy the company. Unfortunately, because I am not as rich as that bloke from the shaver and nose-and-ear hair trimmer ads, I guess I'll have to settle for a copy of the very reasonably priced March issue of ACE Magazine (Advanced Computer Entertainment), due out on Friday February 8th. I will be forever in your debt. And I will get my free cover mounted gift!
